Davis Academy Explore

About the Academy

Davis Explore Academy gives opportunity for the Taiwanese youth students to travel to the United States of America with their leader Quincy Davis, the National Taiwanese basketball star. While traveling students will join The Cultural Proficiency Institute for Educators located (CPIE) at San Diego State University. This is a great way to learn a new culture, meet new people, grow in cultural understanding, while helping others through sports and other social activities. Focusing in the principles of Teaching, participants in our academy should grow in an understanding of global solidarity, working others through sports, the dignity of the human person, for underserved populations, as well as growing in their own identity and role as a global citizen.

The Summer Immersion truly offers an in-depth look at the people and culture of San Diego. The Taiwanese youth students and and leader Quincy Davis will stay in the private secure campus College residence halls. Here they will be able to interact with the American college student community, our Champion SDSU Men's Basketball program, spending a week participating in their Collegiate Basketball Summer training camp.

If you are looking for a truly immersive sports and educating experience into San Diego State's University Residential Life, Basketball Summer camp an as well as learning more about leadership with American culture, then this is the trip for you!

San Diego is one of the safest and fun cities in America. It is known for its year round warm climate, allowing for all kinds of activities. San Diego has a temperate Mediterranean climate. It enjoys mild, dry-summer subtropical, sunny weather throughout the year. Average monthly temperatures range from about 14 C in January to 22 C in July, although late summer and early autumn are typically the hottest times of the year.

San Diego houses many tourist attractions, such as SeaWorld San Diego, Belmont amusement park, San Diego Zoo, San Diego Wild Animal Park, and nearby Lego Land. San Diego's Spanish influence can be seen in the many historic sites across the city, such as the Spanish missions and Balboa Park. Cuisine in San Diego is diverse, and there is an abundance of wood fired California-style pizzas, and Mexican and East Asian cuisine. Annual events in San Diego include Comic-Con, San Diego/Del Mar Fair, and Street Scene Music Festival.

Institute for Cultural Proficiency English Summer Camp for Children and Teens in San Diego offers English classes, Diversity training, intercultural immersions, participation in basketball camp, high quality residential accommodation. University residence offers suite style accommodation.

With its exciting activity program, our Cultural Immersion Summer camp in San Diego is the ideal location for summer fun. The attractive, self-contained campus is in a wonderful city center location, and only a short distance away from the beach, so students can experience the best of both worlds.

Through daily activities, students will be given the opportunity to socialize with one another and see what Southern California has to offer. Each activity will help to improve the students' English communication skills and cultural competency.

San Diego is packed with world-famous fun activities and exciting attractions for kids, adults and for the whole family.

San Diego's excitement doesn't stop there. Beautiful beaches, amazing golf courses, aquariums, cruises, museums and much more await you! The summer camp program includes half-day activities plus one all-day excursion.
